One month's placement experience at the Midlands advertising agency of the year. Available to three pre-final-year students.

What will you be doing this August? Signing up with the temp agencies to sweat it out in the field or factory for minimum wage, or picking up some real-life marketing experience at one of the regions' top ad agencies?

Leicester's Big Communications, agency to a host of great brands including WKD, Domino's Pizza, Princes and Blockbuster (to name just a few), is opening its doors to three pre-final-year students who will each be given a month's deep-end experience of life as an account handler in a dynamic, youthful ad agency.

If you're talented, enthusiastic and proactively minded, this could be for you. In return we'll cover your basic expenses and treat you as a genuine member of the team. And who knows – impress us enough and there could even be a job at the end of it.
